

Getting There:

Here's how you can reach SO36 using public transport. You can easily get to SO36 by both bus and subway.

The Rio-Reiser-Platz bus station is right in front of the venue. Bus line M29 stops here. If you're coming from the direction of Görlitzer Bahnhof, you'll need to cross Oranienstraße — you'll then be standing right in front of SO36.

If you're coming from Adalbertstr./Oranienstraße, walk about 20 meters against the direction of travel, and you'll find SO36 on the left side.

For the subway, it's best to go to Kottbusser Tor station, served by lines U1, U3, and U8. If you're coming from Warschauer Straße, walk straight ahead against the direction of travel. If you're arriving from Gleisdreieck, walk in the direction of travel.

First, follow the tactile guidance strip, then walk along the wall. This will lead you to a staircase with three sections. Go down the stairs, then turn 180 degrees so that the stairs are now on your left. You'll be standing on a traffic island. Walk along the stairs to a traffic light, which has an acoustic locator signal. Cross the street. You're now on Skalitzer Straße.

Turn right and follow the street for about 200 meters. On the way, you may encounter occasional obstacles like signs, café tables, or trash bins.

After about 200 meters, you'll reach Mariannenstraße. Turn left and follow it for about 100 meters. The street curves slightly to the left.

When you hear a street ahead, take a sharp left. This is Oranienstraße, where SO36 is located. You're now just about 80 meters away from the entrance.

You'll pass a bus stop and a burger restaurant. After that, you'll find the entrance to SO36 on your left.